Who is the Bertelsmann Stiftung? What are our goals? How do we carry out our work? This brochure is meant to provide clear, concise answers to those questions and others. After all, transparency is one of our core principles. We want to use our projects, studies and events to stimulate debate among the general public, thereby generating momentum for social change. In addition, we would like to encourage you to reflect on the issues we feel strongly about and join us in a constructive dialogue about them.
