The Bertelsmann Stiftung wants to use its new premises to promote and maintain its dialogue with partners and institutions in Berlin. The modern building offers space for workshops and discussions. The ground floor serves as a meeting place where guests can learn more about the history of the Bertelsmann Stiftung and the work it does. “Through our projects, we have been engaged on behalf of society for over 40 years,” says Liz Mohn, vice-chairwoman of the Bertelsmann Stiftung Executive Board. “We therefore have an ongoing dialogue with representatives of academia, civil society, business and politics. We want to use our new premises in Berlin to further develop our partnerships and cooperative projects in the capital. At the same time, Gütersloh is and will remain the Bertelsmann Stiftung’s primary location.”
