

VIDEO

Reinhard Mohn Prize 2018 – Our award winner Joachim Gauck

A life dedicated to a free society, a united Germany and a life of peaceful coexistence in solidarity. A fight against collective forgetfulness and for a vibrant interaction. Joachim Gauck – bridge-builder in a culturally diverse society. A portrait.

Video

This year's Reinhard Mohn Prize was dedicated to the topic "Living Diversity – Shaping Society." It was awarded to former Federal President Joachim Gauck. Through his words and deeds, he was committed to creating a new sense of belonging, one that includes everyone in Germany regardless of their cultural identity.

The Reinhard Mohn Prize is given in memory of the Bertelsmann Stiftung's founder, Reinhard Mohn (1921–2009). It is awarded to an internationally renowned individual who has played a key role in developing forward-looking solutions to social and political challenges. Five studies were carried out on the topic of diversity for the 2018 Reinhard Mohn Prize. At the same time, the Bertelsmann Stiftung also engaged in various ways with political and civil society initiatives, including conducting international research in Mechelen, Belgium, among other locations. A round table with researchers, experts and civil society representatives was also held in Berlin in May.

Please find further information on our Website Reinhard Mohn Prize.

Sources Photo- & Video-Material:

Adobe Stock, alamy.com, ARD, Boltzmann Institut, Bundesbildstelle, Getty Images, Kelvinfilm, NDR, RBB, RTL/Infonetwork, shutterstock.com, Siegfried Wittenburg, Spiegel TV, Winter im Sommer – Frühling im Herbst/Joachim Gauck (Siedler Verlag), ZDF.

Project:

Reinhard Mohn Prize

| BertelsmannStiftung

Imprint

Privacy Policy

RSS

