“Ownership entails responsibility.” That belief still serves as a guiding principle for Liz Mohn, as it did for her husband Reinhard Mohn. She is dedicated to maintaining the tradition that places equal emphasis on economic performance, partnershipbased management and corporate social responsibility. Following the death of her husband, Liz Mohn represents the fifth generation of the Bertelsmann/Mohn family which heads the Bertelsmann media, service and educational group. The organization now has more than 119,000 employees and is active in some 50 countries around the globe.
