

CHINA'S BIG THREE TECH GIANTS

China's three tech giants Baidu, Alibaba and Tencent are collectively known as BAT. They have driven the country's digital economy forward and created a multifaceted digital ecosystem that touches every aspect of consumers' lives, serving close to one billion active users monthly. Although they are private companies, they are under strict government control.

